THE TREATMENTS

Regenerative Medicine

REGENERATIVE MEDICINE

Stem Cell Therapy

Stem cells and regenerative elements in the body are nature's repair kit. Whenever there is an injury or damage, your body's stem cells rush to the injured area and activate the healing process. Sometimes, due to various causes like nutritional deficiencies, vitamin or mineral deficiencies, or chronic inflammation, your own stem cells cannot get through to the injured area to activate and enhance the reparative process. . The net result is damage that never heals properly or an injury that persists and takes a long time to heal.

At present, the only options offered to patients are medications with the attendant side effects or surgery with the potential for major complications. We offer non invasive or minimally invasive techniques that are all natural scientific based therapeutics without the potential for side effects or major complications.

With regenerative medical techniques and holistic medicine, patients now have safe, natural and highly effective alternatives for pain, chronic disease, stress, heart problems , respiratory problems, and brain related disorders. It is also possible to combine PRP (Platelet Rich Plasma), Ozone, Hyperbaric Oxygen , Peptides, Nutraceuticals and advanced photobiomodulation techniques with stem cell therapy to provide an additional element that vigorously enhances in the healing and reparative process.

Ozone Dialysis (EBO2)

EBO2 stands for extracorporeal blood oxygenation and ozonation. Extracorporeal means outside the body. Oxygenation means putting oxygen into an area. Finally, ozonation means adding ozone to an area.

EBO2 is a process that cleans your blood of toxins, infections and chemicals through a filter. This blood is oxygenated and ozonated and then reintroduced in your body intravenously over the period of 60 to 90 minutes.

The EBO2 is a treatment of choice for those who want to increase their physical performance, re-establish their body balance, strengthen their immune system and auto defence capacity. This a treatment protocol designed for both healthy individuals and those having a variety of health concerns such as metabolic diseases, orthopaedical diseases, autoimmune diseases, infectious diseases, excessive weight, slow meatbolism and many more.

Exosomes

Exosome therapy is a non cellular minimally invasive procedure commonly used in orthopaedic injuries, for anti-aging and other degenerative diseases. Exosomes treatment contains growth factors, messenger RNA, micro RNA, cytokines and other biologically active molecules in conjunction with stem cell therapy to optimally enhance healing benefits.

Exosomes are extracellular vesicles (that's particles that are released naturally from a cell that cannot replicate) that are responsible for certain genetic information, otherwise known as Exosomes for effective cell to cell communication. Exosomes play a vital role in the communication and rejuvenation of all the cells in our body.

Genomic Medicine

Genomics is defined as the study of human genes, its interaction with one another and with the environment as well. In healthcare, a person's genomic information can sometimes be used to diagnose a condition, predict and prevent disease, and offer personalized precision medical treatment. Various anti aging treatments and genetic enhancement are considered to be effective in improving your genomic blueprint and help you live longer and healthier life, by modifying your individual genetic profile.

Peptides can be taken orally or can be injected directly into the blood stream, muscle tissues or under the skin for the following health conditions:

- Hormone regulation for regulating new blood vessel formation to heal wounds and injuries quickly
- Increasing amino acid concentrations to improve hair regrowth, stimulating metabolic functions and fat burning, increasing bone density, improving libido
- Heal damaged cells to stimulate muscle regeneration, memory retention, combat male or female sexual dysfunctions, reduction of wrinkles and under-eye bags, stimulate release of natural endorphins for pain management

REGENERATIVE WELLNESS

Shock Wave Therapy

Regenerative medicine's role in sports related and other musculoskeletal injuries. Traditional Surgical Management of muscular and tendon injuries is not always successful and are mostly invasive so a new treatment modality has been developed in the world of regenerative medicine which is Shock Therapy. These non-invasive acoustic waves generate extracellular responses in tissues leading to:

- Tissue regeneration
